Lauderdale, Miami, and Orlando, Florida; Charleston, Fort Mill, Sumter, and Columbia, South Carolina; and Atlanta, Georgia.

The A Cappella Choir members are: sopranos—Lois Conkey, Karen Cox, Berma DuBose, Sue Hayes, Frances Howick, Phyllis Lobb, Mary Beth Richardson, Nancy Rushing, Linda Taylor, and Carolyn Wiley; altos—Ann Bohannon, Helen Burch, Miriam Goodwin, Edith Mingledorff, Peggy Joe Neal, Mary Jean Partin, Bess Pearson, Linda Pierce, Joyce Shaw, and Sylvia Young; tenors—Ed Allred, Don Eads, Dennie Hage, Paul Jackson, Edwin LeJeune, Dale Melton, Herman Rouse, James Van Hook, and Melvin Welch; basses—Douglas Askew, Wayne Clancy, Gene Cook, Raymond Cowan, Everett Higginbotham, Joe Moses, Don Pitzer, Wendell Poole, and Wade Westbrook. These young people are a select group. They have to maintain a high scholastic record, be good campus citizens, have a love for music, and above all be good Christians.

Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Keys will accompany the group. Mr. Keys, field representative, will introduce the choir and give information concerning the college and its activities.

Mrs. Keys will be the choir "mom" as she has been for a number of years.

Mr. Brigham Young will be the bus driver. He has taken the choir now for several years, and the choir members think highly of him.

During this tour the choir members will stay in the home of many southern Nazarenes. They will meet and influence many young people. The tour will end on April 5, or early April 6, as the bus arrives back on the campus after a 3,000 mile trip.

The choir program will be divided into three groups. The first group includes "We Adore Thee" by Palestrina, "The Beatitudes" by Glarum, "O, Rejoice Ye Christians Loudly" by Bach, "Go to Dark Gethsemane" by Noble, "God So Loved the World" by Stainer, "Were You There" by Lovan and the "Hallelujah Chorus (Messiah)" by Handel. The second group consists of "Lost in the Night" by Christiansen, "It Took A Miracle" by Peterson-Hodgren, "Then I Met Jesus" by Carmony-McClain, "How Great Thou Art" by Hine-McClain, "A Shelter in the Time of Storm" by Sankey-Clark, and "When I Can Read My Title Clear" by Lowry-Hustad. The third group includes "Dry Bones" by Gearhart-Waring, "So's I Can Write My Name" by Cain, "Soon-A Will Be Done" by Dawson, "Heav'n, Heav'n" by Burleigh, "Jesus Lover of My Soul" by March-Coleman, and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You" by Lutkin.

A refrigeration serviceman answered an urgent call from a tearful bride who met him at the door with this accusation: "Three hours ago I baked my first cake and put it in the freezer. There isn't any frosting on it yet!"

Dr. True Speaks At Luncheon

Dr. Ira True, speaker for the Benson Lectures, spoke to thirty-three future missionaries at a luncheon in the cafeteria, February 19.

There were six items stressed as being important.

1. Be sure of a call.
2. Learn to do anything and everything.
3. Be sure of the companion you go with.
4. Avoid the feeling of bestowing a great honor upon the natives.
5. Learn you are not going to change the culture of the natives—first you must change them.
6. Learn to live with yourself and others.

A discussion followed in which pertinent questions concerning a missionary's life were answered by Dr. True.

Saturday Evening Program Presented By Junior Class

On Saturday evening, March 5, at 7:30 the junior class presented the narrative musical entitled "An Illustrated Musical."

The program was divided into four main divisions: choral singing, solos, choral readings, and scenery. There were several novelty numbers including, "Old Mother Hubbard," "Jack and Jill," "The Syncopated Clock," "Sophomoric Philosophy," "The Lilac Tree," and "The Garden Romance." Highlighting the evening was a dramatic number in song and reading entitled "The Grasshopper: A Tragic Tale."

Immediately following the program there was a reception given for the junior class at the home of Miss Barbara McClain, the class sponsor.

Dean Chambers Tours Florida District

Rev. Leon Chambers, dean of students, recently toured the Florida District. This was a traditional event with special evangelistic Sunday school emphasis.

The tour was successful. In each service there was a sense of Divine presence. Many young people knelt at altars of prayer, dedicating their lives to Christian service.

Wife: "Tell me, doctor, what is my husband's trouble?"

Doctor: "He has a severe case of voluntary inertia."

Wife: "And I have been thinking he was just plain lazy."

Student Audition Finals Presented In Fine Arts

On Saturday, February 19, the finals of the Student Auditions, sponsored by the members of the Southern Region National Association of Teachers of Singing, were presented in the Fine Arts auditorium. For two consecutive years this vocal contest has been on our campus. There were contestants from Kentucky, Alabama, and Tennessee.

Other special events besides the contest were planned for the day. A luncheon sponsored by the Music Club was given in the banquet room of the cafeteria for all visitors. Following the luncheon, the group returned to the Fine Arts building to hear a joint vocal recital given by Mr. Neilson and Mr. Cowan.

If you will notice the bulletin board in the Fine Arts building, you can read the complimentary letter written to Professor Unruh from Mr. Louis Nicholas, chairman of the Student Auditions. Mr. Nicholas was very appreciative of the warm reception that had been extended by the college and for the assistance given by T.N.C. students. He was also very complimentary of the food.

Those students who came to the contest will affirm that it was well worth their time. Perhaps it even inspired our own voice students to aspire to higher heights.

Speech Recital Presented

A joint recital in speech and piano was given by Misses Bess Pearson and Sylvia Young on Friday evening, February 26, in the Fine Arts auditorium. This was their junior recital and was sponsored by the junior class.

Excerpts from "Romeo and Juliet" were given by Miss Pearson. Miss Young played numbers by great masters such as Bach, Mozart, Debussy, Brahms, Chopin, and Shostakovich.

Following the recital a reception was given in honor of Miss Pearson and Miss Young in the student center.

Honor Society Elects Officers

The Honor Society met Wednesday at noon on February 24 and elected officers for the year. Phyllis Lobb was re-elected president; Judy Magnusson, vice president; LaNelle Cowan, secretary-treasurer.

Members of the Honor Society are Joseph Adkisson, Ann Bohannon, LaNelle Cowan, Francis Howick, Louise Irwin, Eleanor Knotts, Phyllis Lobb, Judy Magnusson, and Lillian Pickett.

Paul Wells Is Student Council Lecturer

Speaker for the annual Student Council Lectures to be conducted April 4-8 is Mr. Paul E. Wells, business manager of Eastern Nazarene College.

Mr. Wells is a native of Ohio and is a graduate of Olivet Nazarene College in Kankakee, Illinois.

For some years following his graduation, he worked with the General Electric Company. The type of work he did helped him in becoming the successful and efficient business manager he is now.

During the fall quarter of this school year, Mr. Wells was a representative of E. N. C. in the Educational Conference which was on Trevecca campus.

He represents the entire Eastern Zone on the General N.Y.P.S. Council.

Benson Lectures Are Successful

The Benson Lectures, held during the week of February 15-21, proved very successful. Rev. Ira L. True, a graduate of Northwest Nazarene College and now district superintendent of the Southwest Mexican District, was special speaker for the lectures which are sponsored annually by John T. Benson, Jr., in honor of his father, John T. Benson, Sr.

Faculty and students alike received spiritual help and inspiration from this series of services. Almost every service was climaxed with many at the altar due to the spirit-filled messages of Mr. True and the great force of prayer behind each service.

The congregation was presented with a special treat on Saturday evening when the evangelist showed inspiring and challenging slides of his work on the Southwest Mexican District.

A Cappella Choir Presents Program In Louisville

At 5:00 a.m., Sunday, March 6, the members of the A Cappella Choir boarded a Trailway bus which took them to Louisville, Kentucky. Rev. C. E. Keys and the choir had three services during the day.

The following churches were visited: Louisville Broadway for the morning service, Louisville First in the afternoon, and Louisville Southside in the evening.

This trip to the Louisville churches was an advance for the spring tour which began March 23.

Sympathy

Sympathy is extended to Rev. V. Neil Richardson whose father, Mr. J. T. Richardson, died March 13 at Erin, Tennessee.

Story Of Trevecca

Christian work has always been an important part of student activity here at Trevecca. A large part of the "Story of Trevecca" is told by the students and former students who have participated in the great work of evangelism here at school.

When Sunday comes the different groups leave for the work of the day. These young people carry the gospel of Jesus Christ into the jails, juvenile court, work houses, and to the street corners. Men and women who have faced life and failed in meeting its demands are told of One who can cause them to live as they should.

Many wonderful stories are told of the work of God through Trevecca's Christian work. Many, many thousands of persons have heard of the saving grace of God through its medium. Their lives have been changed.

Some faculty members have told of meeting those who definitely met God during Christian workers' services. Some of them have become good Nazarenes. Others have faced life imprisonment or even the electric chair with peace in their hearts. God has wonderfully blessed this work, and it seems that as of today God is still blessing. Only recently a report was given of how God is working among those ministered to by this fine group.

Trevecca College is an outstanding Nazarene school in regard to Christian work. The work is financed by offerings from the student body and faculty and is carried on by the students themselves. Many fine preachers in the Southeastern Educational Zone owe at least a part of their success to participation in Christian work. May God and Trevecca continue to use this great medium to extend the work of God's kingdom.

LYNDON JOHNSON AND CIVIL RIGHTS

Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Texas) is a well-known compromiser. His position as senate majority leader enables him to maneuver liberal legislation past a conservative administration. His record thus far has been excellent, and he now looms as a strong competitor for the Democratic National Convention's nomination for president. The convention is to be in Los Angeles, July 11.

In the past Mr. Johnson has been allied with Southern Democratic interests. He attempts to tread the middle road between extreme radicals and conservatives. His immediate political future rests largely on his ability to have passed a civil rights bill acceptable to both sides.

The North favors a very strong civil rights bill. This would call for federal support of the supreme court's 1954 school integration order. Also it would institute federal protection of the Negro's voting rights. The bill has bipartisan support from the North and that of the President.

The South contends it would be an encroachment upon states' rights. It fears the federal government would attempt to use its power to control elections. Some southerners say Mr. Johnson caters to the Negro vote when he supports a mild civil rights bill.

Whether to be president, or not to be; the question for Mr. Johnson largely rests on his ability to maintain support from both geographical regions.

Vocational Survey
Made By
Personnel Services

"What will my life's work be?" At some time in the life of every young person this question must be answered. Recently a survey was made by the Personnel Services to see how Trevecca students had answered this question.

It was found that 224 students plan to go into full-time Christian work when they have completed their school work. Among these students there are 162 ministers, 47 missionaries, 13 song evangelists, 1 Christian education director, and 1 minister of music. Those preparing to be teachers total 182. Nine students plan to be medical workers. Twenty-nine students have selected various other vocations which have been termed miscellaneous. Ninety-eight students are undecided as to their vocations.

In order to get the complete picture, the group of 47 missionaries should be divided as follows: 16 ministers, 19 teachers and 8 medical workers. These figures should then be added to those given above for ministers, teachers and medical workers.

Journalism Class
Visits Farm and Ranch

Following a unit on magazine publishing, the journalism class toured Farm and Ranch Publishing Company on March 15.

The tour was conducted by Miss Ann Stewart, co-ordinating editor. Mrs. Helene Ewing, a new employee at Farm and Ranch, accompanied the group.

Farm and Ranch has a circulation of 1,300,000 in the southern states. The printing is done in Lawrence, Kansas.

Freshman Class Project

Have you noticed the new white wrought iron railings at the banquet room entrance to the cafeteria? The freshman class is responsible for this new addition.

The railings were purchased by the freshmen as a class project. Installation was completed in time for the Valentine banquet as the class had planned.

Congratulations, freshman class, on your contribution to the appearance of the campus.

Junior Class
Has Luncheon

A junior class luncheon on Saturday, February 27, was at the College Hill Church cottage. Members of the class, along with several visitors, enjoyed the lunch, and also the time of fellowship together.

The junior class is working very hard toward becoming class of the year. At the luncheon the class president, Melvin Welch, discussed the activities and projects that are planned with the class.

Material Added
To Library

A thirteen-volume set of reference books has just been added to the library's collection. It is The Oxford English Dictionary, a reprint of the original ten-volume set.

In this dictionary alone can be found the complete biography of every word in the English language, from the time it first became English to the date the dictionary was published. It contains 414,825 words. The quotations accompanying each word total 1,800,000. Because of the many questions, it has an added reference used to cite quotations and identify them. This dictionary is basic information for any student of any subject in which the history of word usage is important.

In addition to the different meanings of the words are the dates when they were in use and the languages from which they came. The Greek students will find the dictionary a special help. Bible terms may be found and the meaning given will be the one used in that day.

We must remember that it is not a cyclopedia, which describes things or nouns. This is a dictionary and deals with all parts of speech.

This set is now out of print and copies are very hard to purchase. We are indeed fortunate to have access to such a valuable collection. The original price was $125. It contains an introduction, supplement, and bibliography. The editor is James Murray.

Mrs. Mackey, librarian, or any of the staff will help you locate it in the reference room.

Snow!

The icy crystals fell in a thick, downy blanket, covering the dull winter colors with glistening white. The frozen coverlet transformed the drab into the bright, making dainty lacework out of leafless trees, and snowmen out of living beings.

Beautiful snow! Snow makes earth take on a new, more beautiful aspect, providing fun and holiday for children, giving water to thirsty soil, and . . . makes driving hazardous, dampens fun (prevents Valentine banquet dates and flowers from arriving), endangers health, injures business, nearly halts all sorts of migration (long or short distance).

The poetic beauty of snow as seen from the window of a warm, cozy room is perhaps its best redeeming feature. However, children may stay out of school and build snowmen; adults may sit at a window and observe, but neither can be done for very long without boredom. Even poets cannot write forever on the beauty of snow.

First Student: "I am so used to sleeping in my classes that I have trouble sleeping at night."

Second Student: "How's that?"
First Student: "All night long I automatically wake up every fifty-five minutes."

C.W.A. Reports

Under the direction of Melba Robbins and Barrie Bracken, the colored children's service has made excellent progress. At 2:15 every Sunday afternoon a group of workers gather in an upstairs room of the Administration building for prayer meeting. At 2:30 they go to the community center at the Napier homes for Sunday school. God has blessed, and the Sunday school has grown. In a typical month the Sunday school averages forty-eight children per Sunday.

The service is conducted much the same as in any church. After opening exercises the children are divided into eight classes, including three kindergarten, three primary and two junior groups. In the class a regular teacher presents the lesson and then directs the children in hand work.

The prayers and support of the student body are appreciated by these workers as they endeavor to establish the kingdom of God in the hearts of these young people.
—Martha Gray

Student Teachers Observe

The student teachers have spent two profitable days this quarter observing at Donelson and David Lipscomb schools.

This off-campus observation is a regular part of the student teaching program at Trevecca. The students may gain much valuable information in this manner.

Those students who are participating in the program this quarter are: Robert Brown, Virginia Brucker, Shirley Bula, Helen Burch, Darlene Cain, Bill Elkins, Betty Fichtner, Bruce Haddix, Betty Helms, Kemp Higginbotham, Frances Howick, Paul Jackson, Patsy Jones, Charles Klintiver, Jean Ledford, Anne McDonald, Peggy Jo Neal, Frances Shaw, Ruby Spear, Faye Stewart, Nada Ulm, Jeanette Willis, and Beverly Wood.

Dr. Lela McConnell
Speaks In Chapel

Dr. Lela G. McConnell, founder and president of the Kentucky Mountain Holiness Association, spoke in the evening evangelistic service at College Hill Church on February 28. A men's quartet accompanied Dr. McConnell and rendered the special music for the evening.

This group was also in charge of the chapel program on February 29. Dr. McConnell gave some outstanding instances in which God had definitely answered prayer in regard to the founding of their institute.

We rejoice that there are other young people who are saved and sanctified, working together for Christ.

Presenting Children Of Trevecca Faculty, Staff

Most of the students at Trevecca know all the faculty members, and before graduation they have the majority of them as teachers for at least one class. Many times the children of faculty members are not known to the students. This article is to present the children of the faculty and staff members.

We begin with the newest baby in a faculty family. Sarah Beatrice was born to Dr. and Mrs. Homer J. Adams on February 20, 1960. She weighed seven pounds, four ounces, and is a strong healthy baby. Her major was speech and her minor, biology. While at Trevecca she gave two recitals, President's Lady, and the Three Majors of the Christus. Edra Ann is teaching the first grade at Bordeaux Elementary School. She will soon receive the M.A. degree from Peabody College.

The birth of Kathy Sue Hemmerly about two and one-half years ago was an occasion for rejoicing in the T. F. Hemmerly family. She was the first girl born on the Hemmerly side of the family for over forty years.

Rev. and Mrs. Clifford E. Keys have two sons. Clifford, Jr., is a graduate of Eastern Nazarene College and of Nazarene Theological Seminary. He is a chaplain with the paratroopers at Fort Campbell, Kentucky. He is the only Nazarene chaplain in the Armed Forces who makes parachute jumps. He has made 175 of them. He is married and has three children. President's Former Home Is Moved Moving Day! That was the scene which appeared to the students recently. The president's old home was moved to a new location behind McKay Hall. This was done to make room for the new Mackey Library which will undergo construction soon.

The moving process lasted several weeks. First the house had to be braced, lifted off the foundation, and three sets of tires placed under it. Once it was moving it took only about one and one half days.

Among the many bystanders, none were more interested than the girls who have made this their home during the fall. These are: Jane Harmon, Doris Drake, Jeanette Willis, Donna Cook, Francis Shaw, Chloe Combs, Yvonne Johnson, Marsha Steele and Sharon Steele.

The house had been made a temporary girls' dormitory due to the overflow of students. The girls are eager to get back into their "home" soon.

This brings us one step closer to the new library.

the V. Neil Richardson family. She is a college sophomore here, majoring in education and minoring in music. She has played the piano since she was five years old. Victor Neil, Jr., is seventeen years old. He is a junior in Trevecca High School. His chief interest is sports. Victor works at the Y.M.C.A. as a life guard. Carol Adrain is fifteen years old and is a sophomore in Trevecca High School. Her hobbies are cooking and reading.

The four children in the M.E. Spruill family are married and have homes of their own. Sarah is the wife of Rev. Robert Gray, pastor of the Nazarene Church in Union, Missouri. They have two boys. Karen helps her mother with the housework so that her mother can attend classes at Trevecca. David, eleven years old, is in the sixth grade and makes good grades in school. Rickey will soon be eight years old. He is in the third grade. His immediate plans involve a kool-aid stand this summer. Kathryn, who will soon be fourteen months old, has blond hair and blue eyes.

Forest and Martha are the children in the Franklyn Wise family.

Nashville Symphony

On Monday evening, February 15, the Nashville Symphony Orchestra conducted by Willis Page performed for an appreciative audience. Several Trevecca students and faculty members attended the performance.

The guest artist for the evening was Benno Moiseiwitsch, pianist. He has for a long time been recognized as one of the great pianists of our time and has been the soloist with almost every great symphony orchestra in the world. As a British citizen he has been awarded two of that country's highest honors. In 1946 King George VI presented him with the Order of Commander of the British Empire, and last year he was given honorary life membership in the Royal Philharmonic Society.

The program included: "Overture to Eurganthe" by Weber, "Symphony No. 8 in F Major," Op. 93, by Beethoven, and "Concerto No. 2 in C Minor," Op. 18, by Rachmaninoff.

Science Club Activities

"Design for Survival" was the title of the Audubon Screen Tour film seen by Science Club members on February 29.

William Anderson produced this masterpiece of photography. As well as entertainment, this color film contained a wealth of information. It was a story of how animals must adapt to their environment in order to survive. It is considered as an "unusual film approach to the animal world."

"Many animals can understand even if they cannot talk," says a scientist. That balances things up with the millions of humans that can talk but can't understand.

Dr. Mackey Receives Personal Letter From Mr. Graham

Recently Dr. Mackey received a personal letter from Billy Graham, asking the college to pray for the African Crusade. Mr. Graham says:

"Our greatest need is prayer. It occurred to me that you would bring it to the attention of faculty, staff, and students as a matter of prayerful concern."

May we be faithful to pray for those who have confidence in our prayers. We must not fail our friends in Christ.

Tennessee Blind Band Presents Concert

The Tennessee School for the Blind band presented a concert in the Alumni auditorium, Saturday, March 12. This evening of entertainment was sponsored by the Music Club.

Those who heard the band when they appeared here last year will tell you that this group provided an excellent musical program. There were solos and ensemble numbers as well as numbers by the entire band.

Chatter Box

By Charles Kirby

The Alphas have done it again; winning their third seasonal championship in many seasons. They had very little trouble in capturing the seasonal crown and trophy. The Deltas were the only team that gave them a scare; once only nine points separated them at the games' end. On another occasion the two teams were deadlocked at the final buzzer and had to go into overtime. The Alphas were able to pull this one out of the fire and win by ten points.

Tournament time is at hand again and the Alphas are favored to win their third straight tourney championship. We refuse to make any predictions since anything can happen in a basketball tournament; however, we will say that it will be hard to defeat the Alphas and knock them out of the running for the trophy.

SOFTBALL PREVIEW

The softball season is just around the corner and action will begin after choir tour, which ends April 5.

This season should be another exciting one on the hilltop since many are returning from the action packed season of last year in which the Deltas were crowned champs. They will again count on the brilliant pitching of Harold Hughes. Jack Phillips, the Delta's winning pitcher last year, will not return due to graduation.

The Alphas will be hurt this year by the loss of their pitching work horse of last year, Bob Davis; however, James Spruill will probably fill the bill.

The Betas will also be without their last year's pitching ace, Bill Hughes, but it is believed that they may have a freshman to fill this important position.

The diamond has concrete bleachers that will take care of almost everyone; so plan now to attend every game and enjoy the action along with the spring weather.

Scoring Contest

Ed Sisson led the pack by a four-point margin, but there was still evidence that there was a race for the scoring column, as freshman Joe Carr had been hitting the basket constantly for the Betas. Sisson won the scoring title last year and is again at the top in scoring; fellow Alpha, Bob Cook, is holding down third spot in the race, but there is a tough battle for the fourth spot as Glenn Woods, Wendell Poole and Dave Ward are battling for it.

Alphas Roar To Easy Win Over Betas

The Alphas roared past the Betas, passing the century mark and wrapping up the seasonal championship for the third straight year. Reaching the climax of the season, they had little trouble in marching to their sixth straight victory of the year without a setback.

The scoring attack for the Alphas was evenly balanced as five men of the six that saw action hit the double figures. However, the first half scoring was slow compared to the second half of action. The score at intermission time read 45-23 in favor of the Alpha five. During the last half they went on a

Deltas Defeat Betas 89-69

The Deltas took an early 18-6 first quarter lead, and then commanded the lead the rest of the game in winning their second game of the campaign.

The game saw two Deltas and two Betas top the 20-point mark in scoring. Leading the pack was Glenn Wood of the Deltas with 27 points. Close behind were Joe Carr and Roger Costa of the Betas with 26 points each. Gene Shelton tallied 25 for the Deltas.

The game started at a fast pace as Wood caught fire at the opening tip to start the Deltas on their way to victory. The Deltas' scoring was well balanced as four Deltas hit in double figures.

In the second half Roger Costa scored 20 out of 26 points for the Betas. Dave Ward scored 17 out of 18 for the Deltas, also in the second half.
