Trevecca Ministerial Association Presents Prayer Chapel.

The Trevecca Ministerial Association presented Dr. Moore the newly completed Campus Prayer Chapel during Chapel May 21. The Prayer Chapel came about as a project for the organization due to a desire to serve the college and to better the atmosphere of spiritual life on campus.

The Prayer Chapel itself received quite a face lifting. The lighting was changed drastically from fluorescent to four fixtures of modern design accompanied by floodlights upon the super-imposed cross of solid oak and a portrait of Christ which graced the stage of McClurkin Auditorium for several years. The walls were painted a soft white with the trim being painted in a complementary color. The pews were taken from the balcony and were repaired and painted antique white and colonial brown. The altar was used originally in the Chapel in the basement of the Administration Building and was later moved to Tidwell Hall. It was repaired and painted to compliment the pews. The window frames were restrained and varnished to add to the new look. A most impressive curtain of gold antique satin now covers both windows. The carpet is an inlay of blue and green, and adds much to the appearance of the

BONER ACCEPTS TREVCCA ASSIGNMENT

After two very successful years as Director of Athletics and Assistant Professor of Physical Education, Bill Boner has been invited to join the Development Office of Trevecca Nazarene College, according to the Director, Dr. W. D. McGraw. Boner will be working primarily with Development Officer, Claude W. Diehl in the Trevecca Capital Campaign. He will complete his present assignment as Assistant Professor of Physical Education at the close of the Spring term in June and is scheduled to teach a course in the Trevecca Summer School. He will be available for his new duties about August 1st.

A member of the 89th Legislature, Boner will take leave of his Trevecca duties at such time as the Legislature is in session.

Boner graduated from East High School in Nashville, where he was elected Governor of American Legion Boys' State in 1962 and President of the East Student Body in 1963.

John Marker Set's "Whopper" of a Record

The first annual "Whopper Eating Contest" of Trevecca Nazarene College was a "whopping" success as it resulted in a new World's record being set.

The contestants were drawn as teams of four people representing each of the four classes. The Freshmen were well represented by Marty Drury, Tim Barber, Gary Morsch and Jerry Suddath. The Sophomore challenge was in the form of Doug McClure, Dennis Marks, Dale Smith and Sylvester Ballard. The Junior's table, which had the eventual winner, was manned by Jim Ponce, John Marker, Ken Zingery and Doug Dean. The Seniors, pre-contest favorites, were represented by Rudy Hilderbrand, Tom Moye, Joe Laxton and Tom Gray.

Early action saw Rudy Hilderbrand jump into the lead with five Whoppers in the first fifteen minutes, but this pace proved too fast and a slower steady pace prevailed. While Tom Gray finished second with six and three quarters Whoppers, Big John Marker put on a final spurt to win with a new World's record of eight and four-fifths Whoppers. Rumors have been heard that some of the losers are starting to practice for next year and a shot at the record.

NEW Assistant Dean Comes to Trevecca

Mrs. Emily S. Reeves comes to Trevecca to assume the position of Assistant to Mr. Donoho, Dean of Student Affairs, with responsibility for all housing in lieu of Deans of Men and Women, along with other duties which will be outlined at a later date.

Mrs. Reeves is leaving the position of Bursar at Eastern Nazarene College, prior to which time she served for 15 years as Dean of Women at Olivet Nazarene College.

Following her graduation from Eastern Nazarene College she married Henry H. Reeves who was well known throughout Nazarene circles both here and in Canada as

Year End Ramblings!

Well, another year is ending and Trevecca has withstood another year of ups and downs. The year has been unique in some ways, with its own special problems which were offset with its own special blessings. The payment of a large sum on debt balances was a much needed blessing and the new married student apartments will be a welcome addition to the campus, as well as the acquisition of some adjoining properties. The Spirit of Revival has been with us and many have grown spiritually.

Enrollment was up and prospects are good for a larger student body next year, possibly even a record enrollment. For the first time in several years tuition expenses will not rise next year, which is indeed welcome news to those who will be back next fall. Those of us who are graduating have seen many changes these past four years and have hopes of seeing the College continue to change and grow in a constructive, healthy manner, in spite of the problems.

But what about the problems? What are we to do? Ignore them? No, what we need to do is allow the problems to help us, individually and as a school, see ways to improve ourselves and better reach our goals. Some of the problems this year have caused us to stop and take a long hard look at ourselves. Sometimes we have not liked what we saw, but at least we realized there are some areas in which we are not perfect and now we can do something about it.

So what are we trying to say with this rambling? Maybe this: 1970-71 has been a year that was good and we all survived in spite of the problems. The problems have been outweighed by the blessings (More than we have mentioned here) and at the same time have helped us to see trouble areas. Next year has promise of being a better year, if we let it. Those of us who are graduating need to give Trevecca our support in every way possible. Those who return in the Fall need to take an active part in the program and need to remember that problems will come, but if everyone uses a little more common sense and a little less emotion they can help us grow, as a person and as a school. 1971-72, what will we make it? Let's do our best to make it the best year ever, for us and for Trevecca.

Dr. Mildred Bangs Wynkoop

"One of the first results of a true spiritual awakening is the thirst for knowledge." (p. 44) Our libraries bulge with a wealth of literary expositions of religion. Many books supply healthy advice and some bring us to a better understanding of the spiritual life. A few change our lives. John Wesley: Christian Revolutionary is such a book.

In three short chapters, "Perspective," "Perfection," and "Performance," Dr. Mildred Wynkoop brings holiness from its dusty home on the theological book shelf and presents it as a way of life for living breathing human beings in a very human world. Sanctification is no longer a vague dogma of unattainable perfection but a living process of total commitment to which every Christian should be dedicated. This book is an absolute must for young people who seek to know the simple practical truths of biblical holiness. It is not a biography of John Wesley (as the title may imply) but rather a "down to earth" application of his teachings and insights into human nature.

It is the inevitable longing of the Christian to develop his own, new personality in the living world of spiritual discovery and understanding. His march is deeper, broader, forward. His object is the dynamic love which melts the waxy mold of legal Christian conformity. His reward — a vibrant living freedom of spirit — the stuff of sanctification.

Dr. William Greathouse says, "To attempt a review of this little volume is not altogether unlike trying to describe the explosion of an H-bomb. You must see it happen to sense its power! Here is a tract for the times — 53 pages of verbal fission calculated to explode your preconceived notions of what Wesleyan theology is" (Herald of Holiness, July 22, 1970 p. 13).

John Wesley: Christian Revolutionary plants the seed of productive C Christian action in every fertile heart. Soldiers of the cross are called from their sleep to challenge a waiting hungry world. The cry — REVOLUTION; first of the inward spirit and then of the sanctified person, God's master tool. The force — a dynamic, radical, exploding, LOVE. "It is the power of God unto God unto salvation. Let us come away from the monastery — out into the thick of the battle, where men for whom Christ died are battling to find what we can offer." (p. 50).

This book has completely changed my own concepts and understanding of the new life described by the holiness doctrine. To overlook these valuable insights and explanations of holiness is perhaps to deny the application of this "freedom of spirit" to the practical situations of life. Let this book and its message become a part of your life.

an outstanding Pastor until his death in 1949. Their three children are now married and live in widely-separated sections of the country. I Never Promised You A Rose Garden

by Mildred Bangs Wynkoop

I never promised you a rose garden." Neither did Jesus. "You must not think that I have come to bring peace to the earth — but a sword . . . No man is worthy of me who does not take up his cross and walk in my footsteps" (Mt. 10, NEB).

A sure sign of being past 30, or a retreat from life — moral schizophrenia? — is the backward look ("Lets get back to the good old days"), or the "rose garden" complex ("I have a right to happiness").

I really hate to disillusion you, but marriage doesn't solve all problems. It actually puts you in the middle of a set of new problems. He may not open the car door anymore ("You're not a cripple"). She is going to do an overhaul job on you ("Take more baths, you bum"). The apartment will be furnished with boxes — or debts accrue that really cramp your style.

I don't hate to tell you this — being a Christian isn't getting into a little "heaven module" to go to the big heaven in. Becoming a Christian doesn't solve all problems, it actually adds a lot more than you thought existed — but they are real problems, the worthy ones, the ones that puts you in the middle of meaning, — problems worth solving.

We have no more right to happiness than to be born a boy (when we want to be a girl), or a girl (when you want to be a boy), or being tall and thin — or not being born at all. Our real rights (and there are some good ones that satisfy all the dreams we ever had) are protected from cheapness (the shoddy imitations at ten cents a dozen), by walls of challenge to our deepest best. Our rights (heritage) that we derive from others without any personal effort are second rate. The only heritage that gives satisfaction is the one we earn. Only earned ideas go very deep.

A good marriage is earned by mutual self-giving. A good life is earned by paying the cost of meetings issues honestly. Christian 'happiness' is not dropped down from heaven with no price tag on it. It costs blood — ours. I beg your pardon — but real life takes potatoes, and tomatoes, and beans and collards, grown in well prepared soil, debugged by us, watering done faithfully, harvested carefully — and cooked with love.

GOOD NEWS FOR OUR DAY

by K. W. Phillips

We should not glibly and lightly describe the gospel as glad tidings or "Good News". Really and truly the truth about Jesus Christ our world's Emancipator is great good news.

Christ — His coming, His dying, His rising, His atoning work, His life, His teachings — yes, Christ and all these bring us "Good News" about God. Yes, "Good news" about God — His concern, His sacrificial Love, His involvement with man's needs, His costly commitment to the cause of salvaging the Human race. Now we know He is like a father and His ears are inclined toward us as needy fallible human beings.

"Good News" about man. Yes the gospel is this too. Man is not hopeless. Man is salvagable. Man can be saved from destruction eternally and he can also be saved from himself — his own selfish, self-centered, deteriorating (sinful) tendencies. There is hope for man. At least God thought so; Bethlehem and Calvary say this more emphatically than words.

There is "Good News" about Peace — Peace of mind and heart. Books with such titles have been best sellers, indicating a high level of human concern for peace. In Christ there is satisfaction (Bread of life, water of life); there is security (an anchor); there is rest (for those laboring and loaded); peace of God, peace with God, peace with man.

There is "Good News" about the future. He is "able to keep" the committed life. Nothing earthly or satanic can separate the true Christian from the love of Christ. Death does not end life; life in Christ goes on to be life with Christ. "For thine is the Kingdom, the power and the glory forever . . . !"

He received a B.S. degree from Middle Tennessee State University, in Murfreesboro, in 1967. In that year, while a senior, he was elected President of the Associated Student Body and was chosen Bachelor of Ugliness by the M.T.S.U. student body. An outstanding athlete during high school and college, he was chosen All-State in basketball in 1963 and was a member of the M.T.S.U. Varsity Basketball and Tennis Teams in 1964. He received a Master of Arts degree from Peabody College in Nashville in 1969.

Boner was listed in Personalities of the South in 1970, Outstanding Young Men of America in 1970, and is holder of the Distinguished Service Award of the Franklin Road Jaycees.

A Nashville native, Boner is married to the former Susam Gilliland. He is a member of City Road Chapel United Methodist Church. His professional and civic memberships include the American and Tennessee Associations for Health, Physical Education and Recreation and the Optimist Club.

Commenting on Boner's appointment, Dr. McGraw said, "We are fortunate in retaining the services of Bill Boner on behalf of Trevecca Nazarene College. He has an outstanding record both in his work for the College, in other fields and is widely known and highly respected. He will be a strong asset to the total Development Program which is now being actively carried forward."

will use the experience gained during almost twenty years in that field in the various challenges which lie ahead in this new assignment.

McClurkan Auditorium was the scene Saturday Night of "DIMENSIONS 70" the Spring Music Festival. The theme with narrated continuity paid tribute to Trevecca's 70th Anniversary year. Phil Bowles provided the narration. From the opening arrangement of "How Firm A Foundation" performed by the Concert Band superbly directed by Professor McGuffey, it was apparent that this would be a different concert. The subtle, expressive qualities of this selection were beautifully articulated by the instrumentalists. One of the high points of the evening was McGuffey's trumpet solo on "Ode For Trumpet". With the band giving fine support, McGuffey's clear, ringing tone gave expression to the basic "blues" quality of this selection and brought enthusiastic applause from the audience. The Concert Choir and Concert Band combined to perform Vaughn-William's "Sine Nomine" or "For All The Saints" which permitted a range of dynamics which was impressive.

The second half of the program presented a different Dimension Dan Jackson directed the Stage Band in "Make Me Smile" and "Going Out Of My Head." The popularity of this group was evident. The Maranatha Singers gave a smooth rendition of "Where Have All the Flowers Gone." With Professor Patterson directing the Concert Choir, selections included "Scarborough Fair Canticle", "Bridge Over Troubled Water", "Spinning Wheel", and others. The versatility of the choir was ably demonstrated. Comic relief was provided by the selection "Message to Michael" sung by the girls complete with a 6' Kentucky Blue Bird. Courtesy of Mr. Dale Kendall.

The stage set constructed by members of the Concert Choir transformed Old McClurkan, making a memorable evening for participants and audience alike. This concert brought to a close what might be considered to be a year of development in the music program. The Concert Band is off to a very fine start in its reorganization. The Concert Choir participated in eight full concerts of varying styles, and numerous other appearances, both on campus and in churches locally and in Kentucky. The fledgling Chapel Choir a new venture, anticipates double enrollment for Fall Quarter. The Department of Fine Arts wishes to thank all who have made this year an unqualified success in every way.

Golf Team Ends Second Season 4-12

The Trevecca Intercollegiate Golf Team had some difficulty this season in their matches. Losing last year's number one man Bobby Black, this year's team had to try and make up the difference. Tom Gray did his best to do this with Jerry Clay showing good improvement from last year. The number 3 spot was filled most of the year by Mike Estep. Gary Holt showed much improvement over last year's play. Jerdy Conger helped a great deal in playing most of the matches as number 5 man. Others who played at different times were Joe Bullock, Dave Maxwell, Jim Quiggins, Dean Holt, Dwight DeNegly, and Kevin Beard.

The team played most of their matches on the road. TNC opened its season with an easy win over Covenant but had big problems in the remainder of the season. In away matches TNC lost to Lee of Cleveland, Tn., Cumberland Jr. College of Lebanon, Tn., Martin of Pulaski, Tn., and Lambuth college of Jackson, Tn. The Trojans won at home against Lee and Covenant. In their away match at Lambuth, TNC picked up its fourth win from Florence. In cross town home and away matches TNC lost to Belmont, Peabody, and Lipscomb.

Of the five who lettered this season four will graduate, Tom Gray, Gary Holt, Jerdy Conger and Mike Estep, leaving only Jerry Clay as a returning letterman.

To a graduating student who was helped through college by guaranteed loans

First — congratulations!

You have proved you have what it takes to get the education you need. And we know it wasn't easy.

One important step you took was to invest in your own future. You did this by taking out one or more loans, guaranteed either by United Student Aid Funds, or a state agency, or the Federal government.

These loans were society's vote of confidence in you. They were equally your vote of confidence in yourself.

By finishing school, you have taken the first vitally important step to justify that vote of confidence.

The second step is to pay back the money you owe.

So we hope you will make arrangements right now, before you leave school, to begin repayment of this debt.

- Check with your Financial Aid Office to be sure your records are in order.
- Make an appointment with the banker who loaned the money to you, and arrange a realistic repayment schedule.

You need not make your first payment until ten months after graduation, but you will be able to make other plans with far greater assurance if you know now exactly what you will need to set aside each month for your loan.

Meeting this obligation faithfully is one of the most important steps you can take—for your own benefit.

Your repayments will prove your responsibility. They will establish your credit for the time when you may need it to buy a car, a house — and, some day, a baby carriage. Or a business.

You will be helping other deserving students, too. For as each loan we guarantee is repaid, the money we have set aside to guarantee it is released to generate another low-cost student loan. We have guaranteed over 300,000 of these loans already. And with your help, we look forward to guaranteeing loans for future generations of college students.

So meeting your payment schedules will help you. It will help other students. And it will help society.

Once more, our hearty congratulations — and good luck as you leave campus to make your mark in the work-a-day world!

room. A plaque now graces one of the walls. It reads, "Prayer Chapel presented to Trevecca Nazarene College by the Trevecca Ministerial Association 1970-71. 'Yet ye have not, because ye ask not.'"

Mike Estep, President of T.M.A., said, "The Prayer Chapel comes as a combination of several donations of money, labor, and efforts. Harveys gave us a discount on the curtains. The money for the curtains was gained through one of our dedicated administrators. The lighting fixtures were paid in part by a gift from one of the members of T.M.A. along with receiving a discount from Braid Electric Co. The carpet was donated by the Associated Student Body through a part of the All-School Project. Paint, glass, and many small items were received through the Maintenance Department. The pews were gained through the Sanitation and Grounds Department. Time and labor was given by several members and friends of the organization. Advice from the Student Director of Religious Affairs was greatly appreciated. Our T.M.A. Sponsor, Dr. Strickland gave much guidance and help.

A special word of thanks goes to Mr. Donoho for clearing much of the paper work and his support of the project."

The Prayer Chapel is available throughout the day for everyone's use. It is hoped that the present Student Body and future Student Bodies will "enter to pray and go to serve." The room will be opened from 7:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. everyday except Wednesday when it will close at 7:00 p.m. Guide lines have been established for use. 1) That it is only to be used for prayer and prayer meetings; 2) No eating or drinking inside of the Prayer Chapel.

Colleges Recycle Terms of Office

Lancaster, Pa. — (I.P.) — Recycling of terms of office on the College Senate has been proposed by the Senate Committee on Committees at Franklin and Marshall College.

The proposal asks for a recycling of Senate student and faculty terms from an academic year to a calendar year basis. Under the proposal, they would run from January 1 to December 31, rather than from July 1 to June 30.

The Committee, in a report presented before the Senate, has outlined the advantages such a system would have. It would allow the Committee on Committees to appoint committee members during January and enable other committees to compile final reports on their activities of the past year, "a practice which has in some instances been neglected in the past."

Accordingly, communication could more easily be facilitated between old and new committees. It would avoid the overload of legislative proposals usually encountered by the Senate during spring semester, due to the fact that most of the winter semester is spent familiarizing new committee members with problems and due process. In this way, it was pointed out, there would be fewer conflicts between year-end activities and Senate business.

By giving the opportunity of participation to second semester freshman, the system would permit more students to become involved in the government of the College. At the same time, second semester seniors would be relieved from their positions and could spend more time dealing with their academic loads.

The Committee specifies in detail how the transition of Senate terms could be accomplished. The Senate elected in the spring of 1971 would elect a new Committee on Committees, which would appoint other committees for the 1971-72 fall semester.

The terms of these committees would expire on January 31, 1972. A new Senate would be elected in December of 1971, which would elect a new Committee on Committees, which in turn would appoint committees whose terms would run from February 1, 1972 to January 31, 1978.

supreme court rules in favor of parks over highways

The U.S. Supreme Court's unanimous decision announced March 2 that highways may not go through parks except under extraordinary circumstances must have caused some head-shaking in the bastions of the pavers and razers.

For in its decision in the case of Memphis, Tennessee's Overton Park, the high court made it clear that trees and grass stand even before them with steel and cement.

The court sent the case of the six-lane highway and the 342-acre park back to the District Court in Tennessee for hearings to determine if the Secretary of Transportation acted legally in approving the highway plans and design. Highway legislation requires that parkland not be used for highways unless there exists no "feasible and prudent alternative."

In writing the opinion for the court, Justice Thurgood Marshall cited the highway legislation protecting parks and said, "This language is a plain and explicit bar to the use of federal funds for construction of highways through parks, only the most unusual situations are exempted."

Marshall noted that interpretations of "feasible" and "prudent" could allow the paving of parks because the land would be cheaper.

"But no such wide-ranging endeavor was intended," Marshall wrote. "It is obvious that in most cases considerations of cost, directness of route, and community disruption will indicate that parkland should be used for highway construction whenever possible... And since people do not live or work in parks, if a highway is built on parkland no one will have to leave his home or give up his business. Such factors common to substantially all highway construction. Thus if Congress intended these factors to be on an equal footing with preservation of parkland there would have been no need for the statutes."

"But the very existence of the statute indicates that protection of parkland was to be given paramount importance. The few green havens that are public parks were not to be lost unless there were truly unusual factors present in a particular case or the cost or community disruption resulting from alternative routes reached extraordinary magnitudes."

The Supreme Court also ruled that although the courts hearing challenges to Transportation Secretary decisions may not substitute their own judgement for that of the Secretary they are empowered to make "thorough, probing in depth reviews."

The Supreme Court decision has implications that reach far beyond Memphis, Tennessee and Overton Park. From now on, whenever remaining patches of parkland are threatened by bulldozers and cement, the man who cannot put a dollar sign on trees and grass will have somewhere to turn. He now has something to back him up when he says that "feasible and prudent" does mean "pave the park."

New Constitution for Aquinas College

Grand Rapids, Mich. — (I.P.) — Culminating an 18 month Self Study which delved into every aspect of college life was the recent passage by the faculty and the students and approved by the Board of Trustees of a New Constitution which will serve as the basic governance document of Aquinas College.

The New Constitution for an Aquinas College Council replaces the previous Faculty Constitution and that of the Student Senate which operated as separate, autonomous entities. The significant factor in the new Constitution is that there is cross representation of students and faculty in both houses — the Academic Senate and the Community Senate.

Student members have full voice and vote in the Academic Senate as do the faculty members who will be members of the Community Senate.

The adoption of the Constitution formally closes the Self Service Study which was inaugurated in February, 1969, in the first three months of the presidency of Dr. Norbert J. Hruby. The Self Study was undertaken by students, faculty and administrators without any outside pressure or student unrest.

It was from its inception an intellectual commitment to analyze the College and to discover, through self study and investigation of programs at other colleges, how Aquinas should reorganize itself to better serve the needs of contemporary and future students.

As structured, the Self Study was completely democratic with students joining faculty members with full voice and vote in all of the study and subsequent recommendations.

The New Constitution calls for the establishment of two houses: An Academic Senate and a Community Senate. Membership in the Academic Senate comprises all full time faculty members with the rank of instructor, and three officers of the Community Senate.

In addition, students chosen by the Community Senate help to maintain a ratio of one additional student to ten faculty members. The Community Senate membership comprises the elected representatives of the student body and additional faculty members to maintain a ratio of one additional faculty member to ten student members.

The legislative acts of each House become effective when they have been approved by the President of the College. There is also legislative machinery for overriding a presidential veto. Each legislative act when passed by the House and sent to the president is also sent to the other House for review.

Within a period of ten days, the opposite House may submit to the President an opinion approving or opposing the act in whole or in part. The President can, after receiving the information, either veto or approve the act in whole or part.

CANADA-U.S. GOODWILL WEEK

April 25-May 1 marked the 49th observance of Canada-U.S. Goodwill week. Kiwanis International initiated this observance in 1921 as a means to focus attention on the more than a century of mutual understanding and peace which has existed between the two great countries.

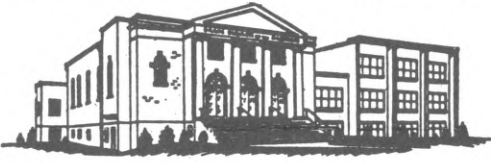

This year is the 154th anniversary of the signing of the Rush-Bagot Agreement (April 28, 1817), a treaty of friendship that resulted in the demilitarizing of the 5,000 miles of border between the two countries. The anniversary date of that signing falls within Canada-U.S. Goodwill Week each year.

In 1923, the U.S. President, Kiwanian Warren G. Harding, spoke at Stanley Park, Vancouver, British Columbia, the first American President to visit Canada while in office. The President spoke on the friendship which both countries enjoyed. Two years after his death, fellow Kiwanians from both sides of the border erected the Harding International Goodwill Memorial to his memory at Stanley Park. This memorial was the inspiration for thirty-six Kiwanis peace markers built in later years, all but two of which are located at principal ports of entry between the two nations.

The first of these was erected on January 22, 1935, at the Ambassador Bridge between Detroit and Windsor. The two peace markers not on the border are located in Washington, D.C. and at Mount Eisenhower in the Canadian Rockies. Each bears the following inscription: "This unfortified Boundary Line between the Dominion of Canada and the United States of America should quicken the remembrance of the more than a century old friendship between these two countries — a lesson of peace to all nations."

In 1971, Canada-U.S. Goodwill Week began on April 25, which included April 28, the anniversary of the signing of the Rush-Bagot Agreement in 1817. This agreement is the sole legal basis for 5,000 miles of unfortified boundary. It virtually demilitarizes the boundary between the United States and Canada by calling for a limitation of naval vessels on the waterways between the countries and instructing those vessels which are deemed necessary to interfere in no way with the peaceful passage of merchant ships of either country. Canada-U.S. Goodwill Week observances are designed to reaffirm and to build this friendship which exists between the two great countries.
